KING KALAKAUA.

Prince David Kalakaua, who was chosen as the King of Februar, 1852, unanimously by the Legislature Assembly to be King, was born in this city on the 16th of November, 1836, and is therefore in his thirty-eighth year. He is the son of the late Mr. A. Kapuahu and the late High Chieftain Keokukahi, who were connected with various branches of the high chiefs descended from the ancient sovereigns. They had two sons, David and William, and two daughters, Hon. Mrs. Governor Damon, and Mrs. Mrs. A. S. Coggin. The two eldest children, David and Lydia, received their education at the Royal School, under the names of Mr. and Mrs. Cooke, and were there at the same time that the late sovereign Kamehameha IV., Kamehameha V., and Liholihi attended. Prince David and his brother and sisters enjoyed every advantage which the best schools in the city could afford for obtaining a good education, and how well they improved those advantages those who know them best witness. They served as convenient with the English as with their own tongue. He, and also his brother and sisters, are accomplished musicians, and Mrs. Damon is the authoress of the well known Hawaiian National Hymn. "He Aloha Hawaii," the words and music of which are her own.

During the past few years Prince David has held positions as clerk in the Interior Department, and also has been secretary of the Party Council under both the last Kings. He has therefore, had an opportunity to observe and become familiar with the workings of government, as he was well acquainted with it. Whatever may have been his former political sentiments, as expressed in legislative debates, the events of the last two years and particularly of the past few weeks, will serve to show him, as it must every one else, the necessity of adopting a liberal and conservative, yet firm policy, which will tend to unite as much as possible all conflicting interests in the kingdom. Never before has a ruler in Hawaii needed so greatly the aid of prudent and wise counsellors in the administration, passing the respect and confidence of the whole people, with the legal support of the native and foreign subjects. On the safety of his chief's name and the success of his reign, depends in inspiring confidence at home and abroad and in removing whatever causes may tend to create weakness in the administration of the government, or want of harmony among the various classes composing our small and heterogeneous population. A strong arm may launch the first ship of state on a sea of turmoil, while prudence and moderation at this time may secure the safe guidance of Hawaii for many years to come.

Queen Kapiolani.

King Kamehameha was married twelve years ago to Captain widow of the late Hon. R. N. Baldwin, who was brother of the late Hon. N. Baldwin, the father of Queen Dowager Emma. She is also sister of Kekumehau, one of the chiefs of Kamau, and was named after Kapiolani, the famous mother of Hawa, who bears the "Pele Kapa," by making the lava derived into the crater of Kilauea in 1825, as described by Bishop, p. 253, and who was one of the earliest and most worthy converts to Christianity. The lady who has thus been elevated to the position of Queen is not only educated with high rank, but is in private life a most estimable woman, and who has been for several years an unceasing and exemplary member of St. Andrew's Church of the city. In her marriage relations, the example of our new Sovereign will commend itself to all who deplore the growing tendency of Hawaiians to set themselves up and will doubtless have a good effect on the people of his Kingdom.

The Inauguration.

It was the purpose of His Majesty, after his election, to have the inauguration ceremony performed, as far back as the custom, in the State Chapel, and in the most public manner possible. But owing to the unexpected disturbances which took place on the election day, and the urgent advice of the counsellors, that the oath of office should be taken as soon as possible, so as to remove all causes that prevented the restoration of quiet. He waived his wishes and appointed 11th of February 1874, as the hour.

King Hale, whose the ceremony was performed, by the Palau, and the most eminent persons obtained for the ceremony. At the above hour, the Cabinet and other officers of the late King, the Foreign Diplomatic and Consular representatives, the officers of the three war ships in port, the nobles and representatives, together with native and foreign citizens, to the number of two or three hundred assembled there, A few moments before 12 o'clock, the King appeared at the platform, and made a few remarks, in substance as follows:

NOTES AND REMARKS.—You have been called to assemble at this time with the representatives of foreign governments to witness the opening of the sacred trust of the Constitution. I am sorry that, on account of the present disturbance, as I had designed, give my people a new Constitution, as a blessing to them, and to establish the independence of Our Kingdom, and the Welfare of Hawaii; but for this is time of consideration, and My great object is to strengthen the foundation of My power as King of this people. I am conscious that it is a long time since I have been in the presence of the Government, but at this time, as the circumference is not over, and as I see the importance of the rest upon the representatives in My presence, I hope you will and we may again meet and act true.

For Her Excellency Harcourt, Vice-Chancellor of the Kingdom, then administered in Hawaiian and English, the following oath. His Majesty repeating it, witness by witness, after Justice Maxwell, and both reciting their oaths on the Holy Bible, held by H. H. Prince Leleohoku:

1. I acknowledge solemnly swear in the presence of Almighty God, to maintain the Constitution of His Kingdom while I reign, and to govern it according thereto.

As the Royal Standard was unfurled from the Palace flag-staff, the audience gave three cheers for their Sovereign, which the crowd in the arena took up and repeated, while the guns on Diamond Head boomed forth their first Royal salute to KING KALAKAUA and his Standard, which was responded to by H. H. M's ship Tremont, and the U. S. Ship Tucumcari in the harbor.

The diplomatic and consular representatives and other officers were then presented to His Majesty, and the audience dispersed.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S
CHLORODYNE
IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

THE PUBLIC ARE CAUTIONED AGAINST THE unfounded statements frequently made, that the composition of CHLORODYNE is known to Chemists and the Medical profession." The fact is, Chlorodyne was discovered and invented Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE (an Army Medical Staff), and is manufactured by him, it being the original and only preparation by the first Chemists of the day. The method and secret of the preparation have never been published. It is obvious, therefore, that anything sold under the name, save Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE, is a spurious imitation.

CAUTION.—Visitors to Honolulu are undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne.

REMEDIAL USES AND ACTS.

This valuable medicine quietes, refreshes sleep, relieves pain, calms the mind, tones up the debilitated body, without exciting any of those unpleasant results of tea, coffee, &c., and is equally efficacious at all hours and times when required. Thousands of persons testify to its marvelous good effects and value, while it is still the only safe and reliable medicine for the cure of great quantities in the following diseases:—Cholera, Typhus, Diarrhoea, Colic, Convulsions, Fevers, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, &c., &c.

EXTRACTS FROM MEDICAL OPINIONS.

The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians, and J. T. Davy, that he had received information from Dr. J. C. Balfour, of Liverpool, that the name of Chlorodyne was given to a preparation of Dr. J. C. Balfour, of Liverpool, in 1854.

Low Medical Missionary in India, reports (1860), that Dr. W. P. Wood, of Madras, has introduced Chlorodyne into the medical practice of that city.

Dr. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne.
